

Postmaster Warns He'll Slash Services Nine-State Area Threatened by Flood Waters

Island Dock puts "Thruway Navy" in shipshape.

Tappan Zee Span Workboat Ready For Busy Program

Who'd think the New York State Thruway Authority needs a "navy"?

But, it has one, a 42-foot steel workboat, the Jay Bee III.

The craft is ready for duty after a complete remodeling job at I. D. Associates, Inc., at Island Dock.

The shipyard, which is busy on several other projects, did an extensive overhaul on the thruway boat, which is ready for its multi-service program.

Protects 196 Piers

The Jay Bee III acts as tender at the Tappan Zee bridge between Nyack and Tarrytown, where 196 piers supporting the span require constant attention. The workboat is equipped to fight fires that might occur in the piling surrounding the piers, and to act as an icebreaker in winter when floes are likely to pile up against the supports.

It tows barges used in bridge painting and stands by to assist vessels that might become disabled in the vicinity of the bridge. And, the Jay Bee III carries personnel on inspection parties to check the bridge.

Serves as Fireboat

At Island Dock a complete fire-fighting equipment arrangement was installed on the workboat, also systems for handling sanitation, heating, and electricity.

A new deck house was built over the engine room, the propulsion equipment overhauled and the vessel given a complete sandblasting and repainting.

Other Contracts

I. D. Associates, which recently completed a steel workboat for Suffolk county, is presently working on a big cargo barge for Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corp. of this city. When this is finished it will start a coal barge for the Sargent Line Corp. of New York.

The 28-foot steel-hulled, self-propelled workboat, Seahawk, built for Suffolk County Board of Supervisors was delivered to Hampton Bay, N. Y., last week. It is to be used as a dredge tender and is to supplement a 45-

Exposition to End Tonight at Armory

Approximately 2,200 people attended the fourth night of the 10th annual Lions Exposition at the 156th Field Artillery Battalion armory on Manor avenue Friday night.

Total attendance for the four nights is now 7,300, it was reported today by Warren Smith, president of the Lions Club. The attendance last night was considered rather good considering the weather and the fact that it was an important shopping night for area residents.

Auto Sales Perk Up, Stock Market Shows New Vigor

New York, April 6 (P)—Faint stirrings of a business pickup were apparent in several lines this week.

There was no real evidence yet of a buoyant spring upsurge.

But if you looked for them, hints of balmer economic weather were not too hard to find. The Easter shopping season—three weeks later than last year because of the change in the Easter date—was finally getting off the ground.

Sales of new cars perked up after a disappointing lag. The stock market showed new vigor.

Underscoring the nation's basic economic health, Commerce Department figures indicated that people are enjoying bigger incomes than ever before (even if you don't happen to be among them). Personal income of Americans, at latest count, had climbed to a record annual rate of more than 336 2/3 billion dollars.

That figure (for the month of February) represents a gain of nearly 7 per cent from a year ago.

West N. Y. Ripped by Gale Winds

Five Lose Lives, Week's Toll at 45

Violent spring storms, dealing death and destruction as they rolled eastward from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard during the week, appeared easing today.

But the danger of floods increased in many parts of the storm-battered sections of the south, east and midwest.

At least 45 persons have lost their lives due to the turbulent weather. Five of the deaths were blamed on storms that ripped across broad areas in the eastern half of the nation Friday. Property damage was estimated in the millions.

Power Lines Snapped

Western New York, meanwhile, was buffeted by thunderstorms yesterday when gale force winds left a wake of toppled trees, broken windows and snapped power lines today.

A couple from suburban Depew were injured last night when a 65-foot elm crashed onto their automobile and pinned them in it for half an hour. Firemen sawed through the tree to free them.

Earl C. Moran, 49, and his wife, Georgianna, 54, were reported in fair condition with broken ribs.

The season's first thunderstorms caused scattered power failures. Trees and limbs fell on power lines. Three transformers were hit by lightning.

A freight train on the Erie railroad line near Jamestown was held up for an hour while crews sawed up a tree that had fallen across the tracks.

No Uptate Flooding

Creeks and rivers were swollen with the heavy downpour but no flooding was reported. There were several reports of

Shultis Warns Of May Frosts; Predicted Snow

"Hold off your garden until May 20," the Bearsville weather prophet cautioned today in his long-range forecast for spring and summer.

Tom Shultis, ye old crystal gazer, says there will be "several frosts in May, again this year."

Warm April Days

He says, "There will be some warm days in April but don't let that fool you!"

Incidentally, Mr. Shultis—whose batting percentage weatherwise is astronomical—forecast the snow that blanketed Ulster county this week. He said there would be "snow in April about the 9th."

For the spring and summer here it is:

"Weather will be mostly cloudy and stormy until 15th of July. There will be numerous storms but most all will continue to be light."

"If we have some nice days of sunshine in June and you have to make you better make some."

"August and September will be the driest and clearest months of the season."

"Average temperature until October will be 58—warmer than last year which was 53."

Well, that's about it, ladies and gentlemen. The prophet also threw in a few other little tidbits of interest. For example, there were 43 storms during the past six months and a total precipitation of rain and snow of 14 3/8 inches.

Early last fall the Bearsville weather wizard in his autumnal forecast figured that February would be the coldest month of the winter. He admits that it "turned out to be January."

He also calls attention to the fact that he predicted a "white Christmas" but, says he, "the snow came a day late."

Called Light Storms

He points out, however, that "storms were light—just as I figured."

Just how Mr. Shultis "figures it" is still a well-guarded secret. He did drop a hint on one occasion that it had something to do with that point in time at which the sun crosses the equator—dropping south or coming north—the spring and winter equinoxes.

Pump Motor Ruined

Fire in an electric water pump motor at the Lenihan home on Parish Lane, Lake Katrine, called out Ulster Hose Company, No. 5 Friday at 9:05 a. m. The blaze was under control when firemen arrived but the motor was a complete loss. Engine No. 1 and No. 2 responded with the tank truck. Twelve firemen answered the alarm.

Book Four Suspects In Bar 'Torching'

Los Angeles, April 6 (P)—Four suspects have been booked on suspicion of "torching" a quiet neighborhood bar into a flaming hell that killed six persons.

Two of the men were picked up yesterday and two more were arrested today. Booked on suspicion of murder are Manuel J.

Hernandez, 18, Manuel J. Chavez, 25, Clyde Bates, 36, and Oscar S. Brenhaug, 44.

Identified in Ruckus

Police Lt. R. C. Madlock said all four were identified as the men who started a ruckus in the Club Mecca and were twice thrown out last Thursday night.

Lt. Madlock said they had not determined which ones allegedly started the fire.

Shortly before midnight three men appeared at the door of the club. One sloshed a can of gasoline—or some other highly volatile liquid—into the room. Another tossed in a lighted match.

Panic, Fiery Death

There was a giant "whoosh"—then panic and fiery death.

"Most of the dead were trapped where they sat. It was too gruesome and so senseless," said the bartender, Larry Fenton, 24.

What triggered the fire? What were the events leading to what police call one of the biggest mass killings in the city's history?

The Club Mecca is a tiny neighborhood bar in the south central part of the city. And Thursday night was typical. The weather was mild, and the bar was crowded with customers.

Six Never Went Home

Six never went home, however. Two were called "quiet guys": Gilbert Gonzales, 20, and Harry Robinson, 60. Gonzales was a cook in a North Hollywood restaurant. Robinson, staying with a son, had gone to the bar to talk with old cronies.

"He would have grown up to

To Affect Deliveries April 13 $47 Million Still Summerfield Goal

Washington, April 6 (P)—Postmaster General Summerfield has tossed the postal service ball back to Congress by ordering the nation's 37,000 post offices to prepare for drastic mail delivery reductions starting next Saturday.

Summerfield said yesterday the cutbacks will get under way at that time unless Congress, meanwhile, gives him 47 million dollars he contends is "necessary" to continue postal service at present levels for the remaining three months of the 1957 fiscal year.

'Bluff' Is Seen

Summerfield issued the instructions only a few hours after Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee told the House the postmaster general was pulling what Cannon called "an unadulterated bluff" in talking about reduced service, and that they'll deliver the mail.

The appropriations committee earlier in the day had voted to give Summerfield 17 millions and to consider the remaining 30 millions next Friday. But at a news conference Summerfield described as "ridiculous" the committee decision to defer action on the additional allotment for a week.

Saturday Closings

The postal chief said he had planned to make some cutbacks today, but that it had been physically impossible to circulate the necessary orders through the field in time.

He announced "with great regret" that starting a week from today, all post offices will be closed on Saturday and Sundays, and that there will be no mail deliveries, city, suburban or rural, on Saturday, except for items bearing special delivery postage. Saturday streetcar pickups will continue, but on limited Sunday schedules, he said.

Cuts Window Service

Starting April 15, he said, post offices will limit window service on week days to a maximum of 8 1/2 hours, and that on the same day business district deliveries will be limited to two a day.

The program calls further for discontinuing issuance of money orders entirely at first and second class post offices—those serving larger communities. This would become effective April 29, and on that same date postal authorities would start suspension of third class mail service, except for shipments of medical supplies.

The third class service handles small merchandise, merchandise samples and advertising matter.

Denies Resignation

Summerfield has been tussling with the House Appropriations Committee for the past several weeks over his request for ad-

WRGB Gets Extension To Fight Shift to UHF

WRGB has been granted an extension of time in which to file comments with the Federal Communications Commission relative to the commission's proposal to change the Schenectady television station from very high frequency to ultra high frequency (VHF to UHF), it was announced Friday by R. W. Welpott, station manager.

The station had originally been given until April 15 to submit data on why it should not be changed from its present channel 6 to channel 47.

No FCC Change

It was noted the postponement does not indicate any change in the commission's decision to remove channel 6 from Schenectady. It only permits the General Electric Company, owner of the station, additional time to prepare an answer to the show cause order.

The station also has asked the commission to rescind its show cause order, Mr. Welpott said, but this request has not yet been acted upon by the commission.

"We will continue to keep the public promptly advised of all FCC developments affecting the removal of channel 6 from Schenectady," Mr. Welpott said, "and we will exhaust every effort to protect the WRGB channel 6 audience."

State Probes New Report Of Lanza Parole Violation

New York, April 6 (P)—The acting state investigation commissioner says he is "looking into" another report of a parole violation by former fish market racketeer Joseph (Socks) Lanza.

Arthur Reuter, the commissioner, said yesterday he had heard that Lanza violated his parole by running parking lots with permits obtained in the names of others.

Reuter said it would be a parole violation for Lanza to invest in a business without notifying the parole board. Reuter and the joint legislative "watchdog" committee are both investigating dismissal of parole violation charges against Lanza. The charges were recently dismissed by State Parole Board Commissioner James R. Stone, who later resigned.

Lanza was picked up Feb. 5 for allegedly violating his parole by gambling, consorting with criminals and living beyond his known income.

The legislative committee held secret hearings here yesterday and heard Stone and four commissioners of the parole board. Their testimony was not made public.

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, told The Freeman today that the Teamsters Union hopes to organize truck drivers, wrapping, packing, warehouse, shipping and receiving employees.

He said the carpenters union is supporting the organizational effort "and other trades have signified their support."

Mr. Yerry said a meeting was held March 27 in Ellenville and was attended by 20 business agents of local trades unions from Kingston, Ellenville and Sullivan county.

Local Resident Appears With Band In Bavaria, Germany

German-American, and inter-service good-will soared to a new high in Bavaria this week thanks to the musical efforts of William A. McBride, musician first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McBride of Route 1, Kingston, and husband of the former Miss Virginia M. Tomassi of 3058 N. Judson street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mr. McBride, a member of the U. S. Navy Band assigned to Allied Forces Southern Europe headquarters, Naples, Italy, and his musical mates teamed up in a week-long series of dance and concert engagements in the Berchtesgaden Recreation Area that left U. S. Armed Forces personnel and the German public still swinging and rocking. German and military police turned away an estimated 500 persons at each of the band's three concerts for German-American audiences after capacity crowds jammed the concert halls.

He plays the trumpet under the baton of the U. S. Navy's foremost maestro, Chief Musician Sid Zeramby, a veteran of over 40 years of service.

During Mr. McBride's stay in Berchtesgaden Recreation Area with the Navy Band, he played five engagements including two dance dates and concerts before the German citizens representing three Bavarian counties. The band opened its Berchtesgaden stay at a St. Patrick's Day Dance at the recreation center's Deutsches Haus Hotel and also entertained dancers at the Berchtesgaden Hof Hotel.

Most spectacular of Mr. McBride's engagements with the band was their concert at the Kursaal in Bad Reichenhall, one of the most elaborate concert houses in southern Bavaria. Before 1,500 people, the local navy band and the band established a new, revolutionary page in musical history when he played "Rock'n Roll" in that normally sedate and ornate concert hall. Its reception was tremendous. He and other band members were mobbed by autograph seekers after each performance and Mr. McBride remained on stage 30 minutes after the program's finale singing autographs and shaking hands with teenagers and German music fans.

Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL

THE MYSTIC ROAD

Queer sometimes, isn't it? How life works out. We make a turn in the road and bump into a complete stranger who becomes ultimately a close friend or a bosom companion. From our standpoint it was pure accident. We had no idea in the back of our minds, as we started out that day, to seek for a very special friend. That particular day dawned as a very ordinary one and when the sun sunk behind the western hills as that day drew to a close we probably had no idea that anything extra special had happened in our lives. But in the long prospective that day turned out to be one of the most significant we ever have known. It made all of life different for us. We walk a mystic road—this road of life.

Often for us life seems to turn upon the pivot of an unplanned event. We look back and bless the day when we stumbled upon the person who became the best friend we ever had. Stumbled? Back of it all there is a Great Planner. There probably is no such thing as a pure accident in this world. Certainly nothing ever takes God by surprise. And He arranges for paths to cross and lives to touch when to us the whole thing seems to be so accidental.

There is, of course, another side to this matter. Sometimes two lives that would be happy in each other's company come within a hair's breath of meeting—but never do. It often seems to us as though the Great Planner were not doing His work very well. The "right one" never comes along. Lives have to be lived out, lonely and unsatisfied; dreams wither and die unrealized, because of the strange fact that the two paths never crossed. There is, sometimes, what seems to us almost an innate cruelty in the fact that some folks are called upon to go through life so friendless and alone.

It is easy to believe that the Great Planner loves us when His plans issue in the richest kind of blessings. But it is extremely hard to believe that there is love in the wisdom which prevents blessings from coming our way. When out of life's mystery come blessing and joy, faith is easy. But when life's mystic road yields disappointment and heartache; when it treats our dreams like insignificant junk, despite all that they have meant to us—then faith is hard. Hard—but necessary! For never do we need faith more than when things perplex us and God's orderings seem so contrary to all that we had set our hearts upon.

"Two shall be born, the whole wide world apart, And speak in different tongues and have no thought Each of the other's being, and no need; And these, o'er unknown seas, to unknown lands Shall cross, escaping wreck, defying death; And all unconsciously shape every act."

And bend each wandering step to this one end— That one day out of darkness they shall meet And read life's meaning in each other's eyes.

And two shall walk some narrow way of life So nearly side by side that, should one turn Ever so little space to left or right, They needs must stand acknowledged, face to face, And yet, with wistful eyes that never meet, And groping hands that never clasp, and lips Calling in vain to ears that never hear, They seek each other all their weary days And die unsatisfied—and this is Fate.

KEEPING PARTY QUIET

A reader writes me: "I live in an apartment and often have friends stop by of an evening. The walls between each apartment are very thin and the sound of talking and laughing carries, especially when the hour is late and everything is quiet. Will you please tell me if it would be proper to ask my guests to please be more quiet, or might this be considered rude on my part?"

If they are really making noise, you could say, "Oh please, we must be quiet. My next-door neighbor goes to bed very early and I'm afraid our loud talking will disturb her."

A Poor Dancer

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently you advised a girl that when she finds herself stranded with a poor dancer, she may "signal a man friend for rescue" or ask to "sit this one out." Have you any idea how heartless and cruel this advice is? I'm a teen-aged boy who speaks from experience. Besides do not simple manners demand that a girl, after accepting a dance, finish it? Backing out is all too obvious an insult to her partner. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: My dear young friend you evidently have no idea of the torture a bad dancer can inflict on his partner. If a girl finds herself with a really bad partner who steps all over her feet, there is no obligation for her to continue dancing with him. My advice to you is to take some dancing lessons.

Sending Flowers to a Man
Dear Mrs. Post: A man I know quite well will be going to the hospital soon to undergo an operation. Would it be proper for me to send him flowers while he is there, or are flowers sent only to women?

Answer: It is entirely proper to send flowers to a man in a hospital. However, a plant is rather more suitable than cut flowers.

Do you know how to reply to an introduction? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-17, "Introductions," will answer these questions. SHADOW OF CONSCIENCE

Some words are little more than identification tags for physical objects. Others are rich with meaning and connotation. It is interesting to examine such a word now and then, to turn it over and look at it carefully, to try to understand its inner significance.

Conscience is a word of this kind. Webster's Dictionary defines conscience thus: "Sense or consciousness of right or wrong; sense or consciousness of the moral goodness or blameworthiness of one's own conduct, intentions, or character, together with a feeling of obligation to do or be that which is recognized as good."

"We speak of 'the still, small voice of conscience,' we recognize it as an inward thing that speaks to us. To listen to this still, small voice is not always a comfortable experience. The voice often touches us on the quick of our moral being, and that hurts.

Yet conscience, being based on training and belief, is eminently worth listening to. To build up defenses against it in an effort to shut out that persistent voice is to go against our own best nature.

A wise old teacher who deals with delinquent boys recently said something worth thinking about: "Once their conscience is aroused, they can't get rid of it any more than you can get rid of a shadow on a sunny day."

Far from trying to get rid of it, we should make a special effort to listen to it. The shadow of conscience is the best proof that there is a sun in the heavens.

A WORD TO FATHERS

The following is an open letter, on a subject of the utmost importance, addressed to young fathers everywhere:

Certain duties of fatherhood are inescapable. The father must, first of all, provide for the physical comfort and well-being of his family. He must also function as adviser and authority on numerous problems. And in the spring of the year, he must fly kites. No self-respecting father can go through life without flying kites for his children.

The first thing is to find a reasonably large open space free of trees and telephone wires. Then it becomes a matter of getting the kite into the air and demonstrating to the lad the timeless skill that keeps it there. Seeing the kite, especially a homemade kite, soar up and tilt at the clouds gives a boy a very satisfactory notion of his father's prowess.

It must be noted that getting the kite into the air involves a certain amount of running madly down the field, looking back over one's shoulder and shouting frantically, "Let go! Let go!" This is necessary. There is no escaping it. It is the only way to get the kite aloft. A father who is not in condition may find that he gets winded rather easily during this stage of the proceedings. He may also find, the next day, that he has muscles he had forgotten about. But it is all eminently worthwhile. Moreover, this sort of thing has been going on for at least 2,000 years. Kite flying and fatherhood go together like apple pie and sharp cheese.

COMMON TOUCH NEEDED

Following his tour of eight African countries, Vice President Nixon reported that he found too much pomp and formality among our foreign service agencies. He thinks our representatives should go in for more simplicity and democratic contacts with the people.

No doubt Americans have assumed that their foreign relations services were being conducted on that basis and in that spirit. If the vice president found that, instead high hat practices were in effect, he deserves thanks for calling it to the public's attention.

If ever there was a time when American government officials and agencies should fully demonstrate the spirit of democracy to the rest of the world, this is that time.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE MONEY PRIZE

It now needs to be seen what Senator McClellan's Committee will do next. It can, of course, turn to another subject, say to how many call girls have been paid out of government funds to soothe the nerves of visiting great men from abroad.

But such diversions, no matter how interesting, will not please most Americans who would prefer that Senator McClellan pursue the course upon which he started, namely, racketeering in the labor movement. The damaging, if not destruction, of Dave Beck of the Teamsters produced a week of gaiety not equalled since Senator Kefauver amused the nation with his exhibition of various gamblers and others engaged in illicit occupations.

Senator McClellan therefore ought to continue his investigation into racketeering and should next call not on those who buy houses and horses but on those who use union funds for campaign contributions. In this, he can well afford to be impartial, looking into both Republicans and Democrats into those who pay by check and those who pay cash. He might, for instance, make a thorough study as to how his old colleague Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, happened to be defeated. In fact, Senator McClellan might go into the matter of the attempt to defeat him in his last campaign in Arkansas. He might recall that on that celebrated occasion I spilled the beans and was duly denounced on the floor of the Senate by Senator Fulbright who should have had better manners. Or, Senator McClellan might look into the efforts to defeat Senator Pat McCarran, an effort which failed. Or, he might have a look at the sizable New York campaign contributions which went into Idaho to defeat Senator Herman Welker who did not represent any New York constituency.

If Senator McClellan and his Committee go into all this thoroughly, they will encounter the Committee for an Effective Congress and the Americans for Democratic Action and they might go all the way back to 1936 to discover how union money went into election campaigns. Perhaps Walter Reuther will squirm, but then Walter Reuther is an honorable man who, unlike Dave Beck, pays for his steaks and shirts, out of his own pocket. He can face all the world as an honorable man and need fear no one's censure. Or am I wrong?

It would seem to be a pity to drop the racketeering in labor investigation with Dave Beck. Why not go on, maybe in alphabetical order, picking off these union leaders for their use of union funds, paid out of the dues of the workers, for purposes other than that for which the worker paid the money?

Perhaps we may yet see the phenomenon of the Civil Liberties Union offering to provide Dave Beck with counsel to defend his right to use the Fifth Amendment to avoid self-incrimination and going into court to forbid the AFL-CIO to deprive him of his vice-presidency in that body. Surely, if a university may not fire a Fifth Amendment Communist for poisoning the mind of our youth, a labor leader should not be fired for swiping money, for what is mere money compared to the mind of our youth?

We have not seen the last of Beck yet, I hope, because I am not interested in how many neckties he bought with union dough, but whether or not he fixed any Senators and Governors, and if so, what are their names. And maybe if everybody goes picking on Dave Beck, he will provide this exceptionally useful information and also tell what some other AFL-CIO vice-presidents spent in the same activity, he surely knowing how the boys got together on such matters without the slightest regard to partisanship. The most bi-partisan activity in this country is campaign fund contributions, particularly under the table.

It would be exciting to see a profound study of Senator McClellan into this question of campaign contributions in such states as New York, New Jersey, Michigan, California, etc., etc. It would make exciting testimony if the Committee got the right labor leaders to testify, and also their accountants and press agents and various other fixers who attend to such matters during pre-campaign periods.

If Senator McClellan drops this investigation of Dave Beck, the latter might rightly shriek against unfair and undue discrimination. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE COST OF MEDICINES

"Despite the fact that never drugs assist the physician in curing a patient's illness much more rapidly, effectively, and without the dangerous side-effects as in the past, both the public and the medical profession still question the relative rise in cost of treatment by prescription. The rise must be considered relative, rather than actual, when one considers the economy resulting from the reduced number of days that treatment is needed in many cases, and the decreased number of visits that must be made by, or to, the family physician for each illness. There is also the fact that hospitalization is no longer required in many cases." I am quoting from an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association on the cost of medicaments. It is a subject that affects all of us at one time or another.

The editorial goes on to say that the major determination of a drug's price is the previous cost of the research behind the finished product. Whether it be a completely new idea or an improvement on some established drug, much time, personnel and equipment are required to prepare the medicine for experimental marketing. If and when, after extensive experiment, the medicament has been proved worthy, then the manufacturer must supply the tremendous capital to build such techniques as will allow mass production.

After volume production is obtained, the third major factor controlling the price of the drug is volume sales. The more of a product that is sold, the less profit need be taken on each item. Then widespread use depends strictly on the practicing physician who prescribes it. He must be informed of its existence, thoroughly understand what it is, and then be enticed to try it.

Now enters the factor of advertising which is how many physicians learn of new products. It has often been said that drugs could be sold for much less if the cost of advertising were not added to the original cost of the preparation, but is this really true? Most ethical drug firms spend an average of five per cent of the retail sales to inform the medical profession of their products. If the cost of advertising were eliminated entirely, a 50-cent capsule could then retail at 48 cents. However, if advertising were cut out, the mass production which enables drugs to be sold as low as they are would not exist.

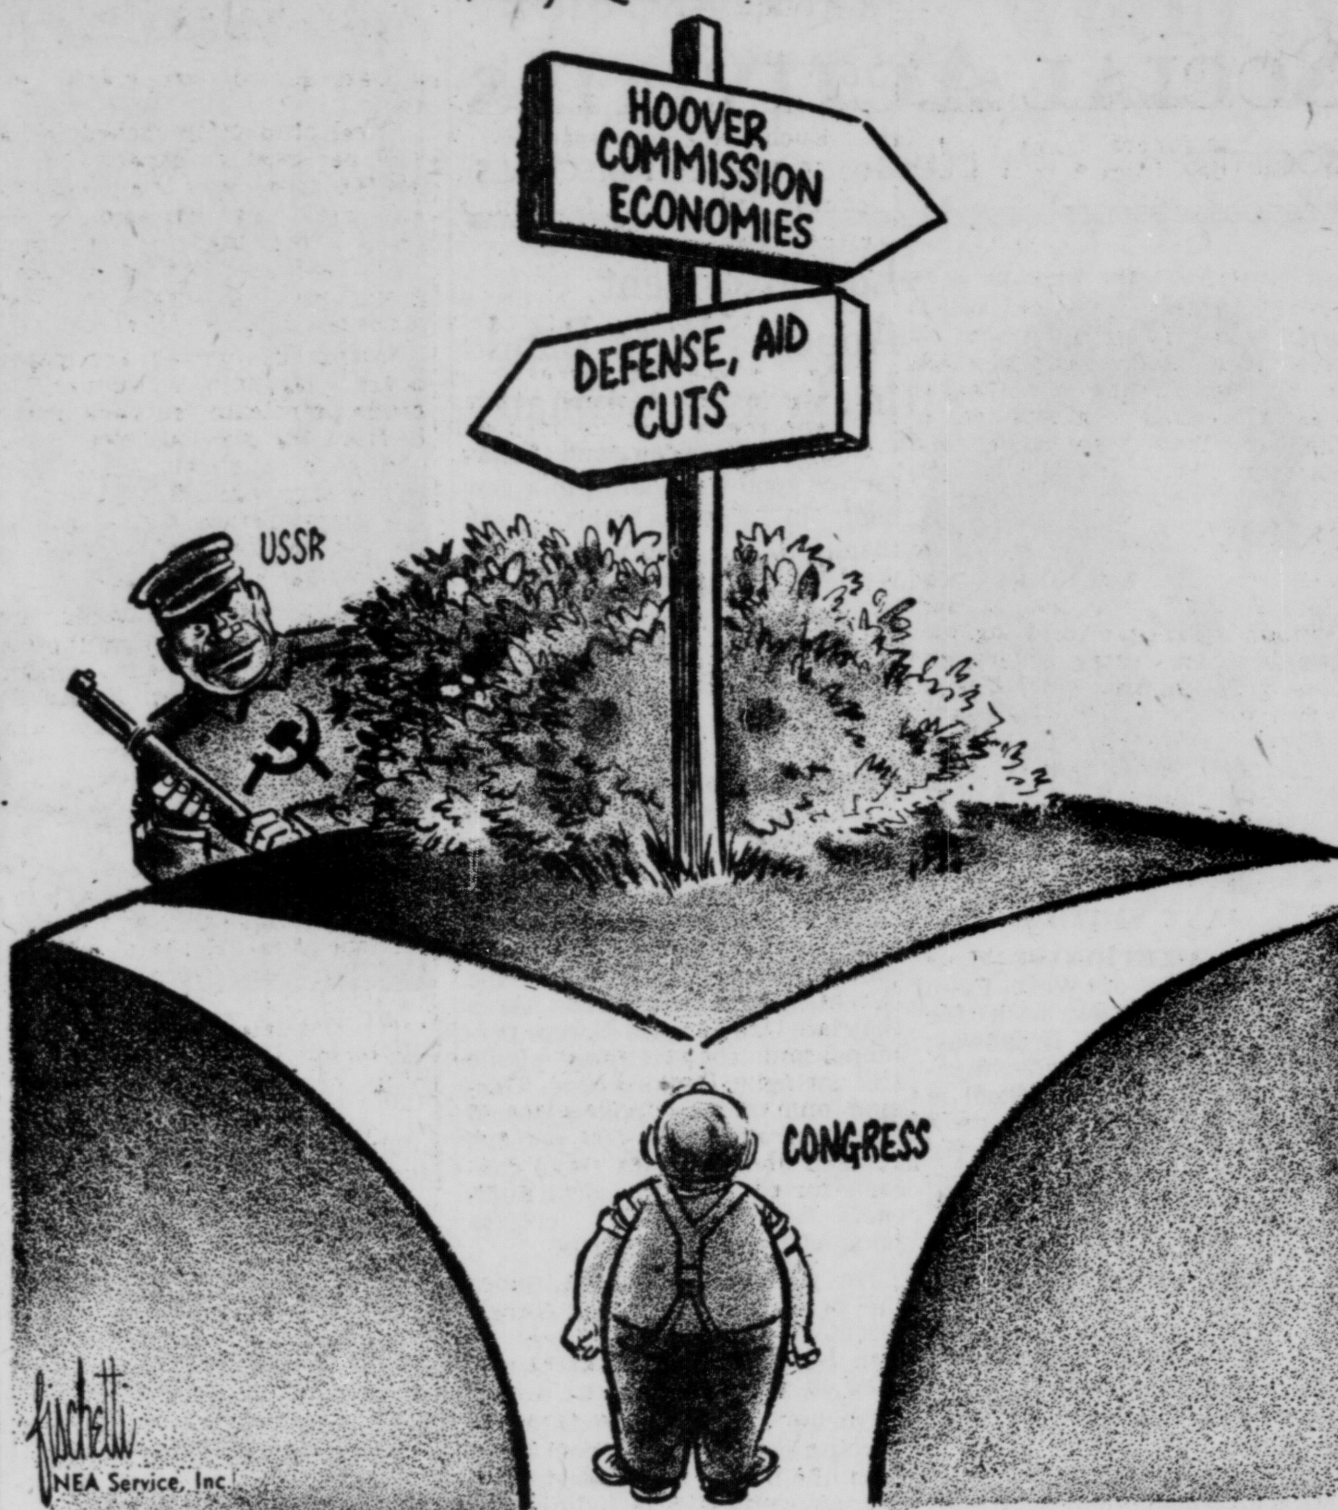

Also, there is the factor of competition. The physician will always consider the matter of price to his patient. If there is a choice open to him. Drug manufacturers, as in any other business, compete with one another, to produce their product at a lower price consistent with quality. The end-result of this is usually to stabilize the price at the lowest possible level.

When we consider the above factors, we feel a little better about the cost of medicines. We must consider the tremendous strides made in the past few years in the discovery of the wonder drugs that have saved untold numbers of lives which formerly would have been lost.

Any Questions?

Knowland Still Critical Of Eisenhower Program

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

Washington, April 5 (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland, the 48-year-old Californian who may seek the presidency some day, continues what he's been doing since he became Republican leader in the Senate in 1953.

He continues to criticize and oppose President Eisenhower's programs when it suits him, which is often. If it seems strange that the Senate Republican leader should buck the Republican president, Knowland has offered an explanation:

He thinks, he said, it's his job to bring about a meeting of Senate minds on the President's proposals. He was quoted in a Look magazine as saying he will agree with the President "unless it involves a matter of deep personal principles."

And he has said he has supported Eisenhower's program most of the time. Two years ago he claimed a 90 per cent record on that score.

Eisenhower has avoided a break with the senator who must be a thorn in his side many times. Diplomatically he said of the differences between them that they are really more a matter of method than of principle.

Knowland announced not long ago he would quit the Senate when his term ends in January 1959. He had his eye on the White House in 1956, until Eisenhower said he would run again. Knowland hasn't denied he'll look in the same direction in 1960.

Knowland has repeatedly been critical of the United Nations. Eisenhower has tried to build it up and put a lot of reliance in it.

This year Knowland wants to cut the President's budget and his foreign aid program. He also is against giving Communist Poland economic aid although the administration invited the Poles over here to discuss aid.

When the administration talked of sanctions against Israel unless it got out of Egypt, Knowland called this immoral unless sanctions were also invoked against Russia for not getting out of Hungary. Israel pulled its troops out; Russia still hasn't.

Knowland Positions

Going backwards to 1953, here were some other Knowland positions:

He objected to Eisenhower's sending Gen. Nathan F. Twining to Russia on a visit. He said the United States "retreated from principle" in agreeing to a package deal which let four Communist and 12 noncommunist nations into the UN.

He doubted, beforehand, the wisdom of Eisenhower's Big Four meeting with the Russians, British and French in Geneva in 1955 and cautioned against a "sell-out." Knowland objected when Eisenhower said that same year said he was willing to talk to the Red Chinese about a cease-fire around Formosa.

When the administration released the Yalta papers—the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin war-time talks—and Eisenhower said he hoped they would not be used for political purposes, Knowland said "I don't agree."

He derided as "nonsense" secretary of State Dulles' statement in 1955 that this country would not defend the Matsu and Quemoy islands off Formosa unless they were used as stepping stones for an attack on Formosa itself.

Knowland wanted this country to blockade the Red China coast to bring about the release of captured American fliers and to serve an ultimatum on the Red Chinese, backed by "effective action," if they were not released.

He got neither wish. Eisenhower said such a blockade would be an act of war. And Eisenhower left him talking to himself when he one time called for a diplomatic break with Russia.

In 1954 he was so displeased with the Eisenhower-Dulles handling of foreign policy that he called for a congressional review of it. And he voted for the final version of the Bricker Amendment—opposed by Eisenhower—which would limit the President's treaty-making powers.

So They Say..

The British government has no intention of withdrawing from Europe on tiptoe.

—Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, promising French to keep troops in Germany.

Inefficiency, waste, overlapping and obsolete government business procedures are costing us billions of dollars a year.
—Clarence Francis, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the Hoover Report, urging government reorganization.

I would die for 30,000 pesos. It was the same to me—murder or robbery—when I heard about the 30,000 pesos.
—Daniel Rios, admitting in Acapulco, Mex., that he helped murder two New York tourists for money.

Questions -- Answers

Q—How should Chinese names be written?

A—In Chinese, surnames are always written first and that order is usually followed when they are written in English.

Q—How does quicksand differ from ordinary sand?

A—The grains are not packed together tightly, and therefore quicksand does not remain firm when water gets into it. It cannot support a heavy weight, thus becoming a dangerous trap for animals and men.

Q—Does the pelican use its pouch to store food?

A—No, the pouch serves as a scoop to take up the fish and when the bird comes to the surface the fish are gulped down. They are never stored in the pouch.

Japan, Reds Sign Salmon Catch Pact

Tokyo, April 6 (AP)—Japan and Russia signed an agreement today fixing Japan's salmon catch in northwestern Pacific waters this season at 132,276 tons.

Special limitations were put on the catch in the Sea of Okhotsk and the waters off the Soviet Union's Kamchatka peninsula. Japanese fishing in the waters bordering the Soviet Pacific coast caused considerable friction between the two countries for several years after World War 2. The Russians seized many Japanese fishing in these waters.

Last May, Japan and Russia signed a 10-year fisheries treaty plus an interim agreement covering the 1956 salmon season. These pacts went into effect when the two countries formally ended their 11-year state of war last October.

Week's Business & Finance Reported by AP

Stocks on Upside

New York, April 6 (AP)—Stocks broke out on the upside of a six-week trading range this week. They did it on expanded volume.

The price movement cheered the bulls. The volume increase eased the pain of brokers, who have been dismayed by recent low turnover.

Yet neither the price gains nor the volume expansion was large enough to cause any great rejoicing. Combined, they were just a hopeful sign that better days might be ahead.

6th Straight Week

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.50 to $175.70. It was the sixth straight week of a creeping advance. Possibly more significant, it was the biggest of the six.

As the week ended the average was at its best level for a Friday, since Feb. 1. But it was still a long way under last year's high of $191.53, which was all the time peak.

There were two days on which volume exceeded two million shares. Not since the week ended Feb. 15 had the fearful eyes of brokers been confronted with so lush a sight.

The big days came Tuesday and Wednesday. Steels, metals, oils and aircrafts encountered sudden popularity. On the remaining two days quite a bit of profit-making developed, but it was absorbed without much damage.

Some market analysts viewed the price action as the start of a spring rise. Others saw it merely as a minor technical rally resulting from an oversold condition. It recovered partly, ending higher for the week.

5 Active Issues

The five most active issues on the New York Stock Exchange this week were:

U. S. Hoffman, down 3/4 at 10 on 242,700 shares; American Foreign Power, up 3/4 at 16 1/2; Lukens Steel, up 5/8 at 68 1/2; Bethlehem Steel, up 3/4 at 43 1/2; and El Paso Natural Gas, up 2 1/2 at 37 1/2.

The five most active issues on the American Stock Exchange were:

Press Metals of America up 1/4 at 7 1/2 on 181,800 shares; Fargo Oil up 1/4 at 4 1/2; Scurry Rainbow Oil up 1/4 at 3 1/2; Fifth Sterling down 1/4 at 12 1/2; and Devon Palmer Oil, up 1/4 at 2 13/16.

Bond Review

New York, April 6 (AP)—Both corporate and U. S. government bond prices declined slightly this week in drab trading. Changes were narrow and investor interest, particularly in treasury obligations, was light.

Among the corporates, rails edged narrowly higher, utilities were steady, but industrials and investment quality issues faded. Japanese liens worked lower in a dull foreign sector.

Selected convertibles registered advances in keeping with the modest rise of their stock counterparts. General Dynamics 3 1/2's spurted 7/8 for the week to 127. Standard Oil of Indiana 3 1/2's added 3/8 to 123 1/2 and Bethlehem 3 1/2's improved 1/4 to 132.

Look At Volume

Volume amounted to $19,419,800 par value on the big board, compared with $17,651,000 the previous week and $24,937,000 for the corresponding week in 1956.

Long range U. S. government bonds drifted lethargically through the week. The 30-year 3 1/4's and the 40-year 3's lost 6/32 each for the period, closing Friday at 98 22/32 and 93 22/32 bid, respectively. The 2 1/2's of 1963 slipped 2/32 to 5 2/32 while the Victory 2 1/2's of 1972-67 were unchanged at 91 8/32.

Tone of the new financing markets was fair to good this week in both corporate and municipal issues.

The visible supply of state and municipal issues up for public bidding over the next 30 days totals $467,522,975 compared with $430,695,773 a week ago. This does not include the 70 million dollars of Jacksonville, Fla., expressway bonds slated for a negotiated offering this coming Tuesday by a group managed by Smith, Barney & Co.

New issues scheduled for competitive bidding this week amount to $14,827,948 bonds and $106,213,000 short-term notes, compared with revised totals of $145,810,507 bonds and $4,042,000 notes for the past week, according to the daily bond buyer. The weekly average of long-term offerings now is $135,465,820.

Housing Bonds

On Wednesday, the public housing administration will auction $36,135,000 of housing bonds. On Tuesday, Michigan will put 25 million of limited access highway bonds on the block.

The corporate calendar will be featured by the offering Tuesday of 25 million dollars of bonds and 10 million of notes of the European Coal & Steel Community by a syndicate led by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The next day, First Boston Corp. will offer 125 million dollars of Aluminum Co. of Canada debentures.

A huge secondary distribution of 1,200,759 shares of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. common stock Tuesday will be managed by First Boston Corp. The stock is to be sold for Gulf Oil Corp.

Livestock Report

Chicago, April 6 (AP)—Fed steers reached a top of $27.85 this week, the highest price since Dec. 12. Receipts were almost 10 per cent smaller than the previous week and were the smallest since early February. Steers were 25 cents to $1.00 or more higher for the week.

Heifers advanced 25 to 75 cents. Cows were 25 to 50 cents up, but bulls were weak to 25 cents lower. Vealers were strong to $1.00 higher. Wholesale dressed beef prices at Chicago were 50 cents to $1.50 higher.

Butcher hogs and sows were 50 to 75 cents higher than a week ago, with the advance due to a reduced supply. Butchers topped at $18.75 Thursday. Wholesale pork prices failed to move up, however.

Slaughter lambs were 25 to 50 cents lower, with woolled lambs showing the full decline. The best woolled lamb price during the week was $24.50. Lack of shipping demand and lower dressed lamb prices were bearish factors. Wholesale dressed lamb prices were $1.00 to $2.00 lower in Chicago. Shorn slaughter ewes were off at least $1.00 for the week.

A Look at Grains

Chicago, April 6 (AP)—Winter wheat farmers wanted some moisture and they really have been getting it. In fact, they're getting about ready to beg for mercy.

This moisture, which has greatly improved the winter wheat outlook, has kept wheat futures from getting up much steam despite some favorable export news. However, prices were not substantially lower for the week on the board of trade.

The nearby soybean contract gained some ground, but the distant futures were lower. Corn was off more than two cents for the week despite a rally Friday. Oats generally showed fractional gains.

Wheat closed Friday 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower than a week ago Friday. Corn was 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 down, oats 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, rye 1 1/4 higher to 1/2 higher, soybeans 1 1/2 higher to 2 1/2 lower, and lard 15 to 38 cents a hundred pounds higher.

The Quaker Oats Co. said in a crop summary that the improvement in the moisture situation during the winter wheat belt "is nothing less than miraculous." "There is no question but what the drought situation has been materially eased and wheat prospects greatly improved throughout the Great Plains states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska," the report said.

Texas Is Soaked

In some areas of Texas, traders reported, there actually has been too much moisture.

It appears that the government crop forecast, to be issued next Wednesday, may show some improvement. The last winter wheat forecast was for 625 million bushels. Traders believe it may be for as much as 650 million bushels.

This, coupled with indications Europe will have a good crop, indicates a sizeable carryover and is a bearish influence in the market.

Cotton Closes Higher

New York, April 6 (AP)—Cotton futures prices held to a narrow trading range this week and closed in higher territory.

Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange closed at prices which ranged from unchanged to 75 cents a bale higher than at the end of the week before.

Some buying was prompted by a report early in the week that Secretary Benson, at a recent appearance before a Congressional subcommittee, had revised a previous estimate of the prospective guaranteed minimum loan rate on middling 7/8-inch cotton. Benson reportedly told the committee he considered his previous prediction of 28.15 cents a pound too low.

Also contributing to bullish sentiment was a 12-point rise in the mid-March parity price.

Offerings were furnished through hedge selling, profit-taking, and scattered liquidation prompted by favorable weather reports from the cotton belt. Some selling was attributed to a further reduction in the 1956 net loan stock.

Jury Expected To Get Adams Case by Tuesday

London, April 6 (AP)—Jurors in the murder trial of Dr. John Bodkin Adams began a weekend at their homes today as the time approached for them to decide the fate of the 58-year-old Eastbourne society physician.

With the defense's plea completed and the prosecution expected to wind up its summation Monday, the case probably will go to the jury Tuesday.

Not Locked Up

English juries are not locked up—even in capital cases. But the 10 men and 2 women who have sat 15 days during the trial of the bachelor doctor were warned not to discuss the case with anyone outside the court.

Defense Attorney Geoffrey Lawrence told the jury yesterday it was not "necessary" for the doctor to take the stand to tell his story of the death of Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell 6½ years ago.

The prosecution has accused Adams of killing the rich, 81-year-old widow with an overdose of drugs.

Motive has been one of the big issues confronting the jurors.

Esopus Level Is Not Serious Now; Tunnel Shut Off

The Shandaken tunnel—which feeds water from the Gilboa reservoir into the Esopus creek at Allabon—was shut off about 7 a. m. today as "a precautionary step," it was reported by District Engineer John A. Aalto of the New York City Board of Water Supply.

Mr. Aalto said that since that time water in the creek above Ashokan reservoir had leveled off and was dropping slowly.

At 7.9 Feet

Creek level was 7.9 feet at 7 a. m. when the tunnel was shut off. The tunnel feeds into the Esopus above Ashokan reservoir.

Could Rise More

He cautioned, however, that if there is more rain or very warm weather, which melts snow rapidly, there could be further rises.

When the Shandaken tunnel is closed the water in Gilboa reservoir, if it continues to rise, overflows into the Schoharie river which empties, in turn, into the Mohawk.

A check in Rosendale this morning disclosed that Rondout creek was up three or four feet. No trouble was anticipated, however, unless heavy rains came, which would raise another four or five feet without causing damage, it was reported.

Auto Sales Perk

a crazy-quilt of strong and weak spots.

Steel production (scheduled at 91.6 per cent of capacity, or 2,344,000 tons) was the lowest for any week this year and 2½ per cent lower than in the same week last year. Prices of heavy grade, melting scrap for steel furnaces dropped $9 a ton.

Output of lumber and paperboard lagged; production of crude petroleum fell back sharply from the previous week's record pace. Distribution of electric energy was off a little from the week before but a good 6 per cent higher than a year ago.

Denning Estate Sold to Jersey YM Organization

The 2,000 acres Forstmann estate at Branch in the town of Denning, one of the showplaces of that area, was sold yesterday by Julius G. Forstmann, son of Julius Forstmann who built the estate, to the Trustees of the State Association of YMCAs of the State of New Jersey.

Plans are underway to convert the grounds and mansion to use by the New Jersey YMCA organization as a conference place and large camp for children. It is expected the premises will be put to limited use this coming season.

One of Largest

The Forstmann estate is one of the largest and finest properties in that area. The late Julius Forstmann, wolens manufacturer, spent a fortune in erection of the huge stone and frame mansion and in developing the gardens and grounds. He spent considerable portions of the year at the estate. It has not been used to any extent for some time.

Julius G. Forstmann, the seller was represented at the closing Friday in New York City by Daniel J. Ballentine, Bushby, Palmer, and Wood of 40 Wall street. The purchasers were represented by Smith, Slingerland, Trauth and Holz of Newark, N. J., and Corporation Counsel James Abernethy of Kingston appeared of counsel for the Newark Law firm.

Lake Included

It is reported included in the plans for development of the estate for YMCA use will be a large lake created by damming the West Branch of the Neversink which runs through the estate.

Julius Forstmann, original owner, died in 1939.

Nine-State Area

glass display windows smashed by the winds in Buffalo. The Weather Bureau here recorded gusts up to 57 MPH. The Weather Bureau said the thunderstorms were part of a general system that extended into Pennsylvania, Ohio, and West Virginia.

Yesterday's flooding rains sent many rivers on a rampage and scores of streams were near flood stage in a nine-state area.

Most seriously threatened with floods are areas in Missouri, Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Georgia, North Carolina and Oklahoma.

Three Persons Drowned

Three persons drowned in floodwaters yesterday, one in Dayton, Ohio, and two in bankful streams in the Bootheel area of southeast Missouri. Some 75,000 acres of bottomland in southeast Missouri and in nearby counties of Arkansas have been inundated.

Floods threatened areas in southern Illinois, hit by the heaviest rainfall in seven years. In Indiana the Wabash spilled out of its banks at Wabash, swirling across southwestern sections of the city. Police and fire department boats evacuated 18 families while some 40 families moved out earlier. Further rising could force the closing of several factories. Several families also were forced from their homes along the White river in southwestern Indiana.

Tornado winds struck a half dozen towns in Georgia yesterday, killing two boys, injuring at least six other persons and flattening more than 100 buildings.

Trees Uprooted

Gusty winds uprooted trees, knocked out power and light lines and broke windows in many places in the storm belt extending south and east from Michigan. A line squall with winds up to 90 mph lashed northwestern Ohio late yesterday, causing widespread damage and injuring three persons.

A 620-foot Great Lakes freighter was torn loose from her winter moorings in the Maumee river in Toledo, knocking down part of the Fasset street bridge. Damage to the span was estimated at more than $250,000 by city officials.

Heavy rainfalls swelled many streams to dangerous levels in Georgia and North Carolina. Flood waters poured across farm lands and country roads in some areas.

Rain fell for the sixth straight day in southern Illinois and Ohio got downpours for the fifth day in a row. Tributaries of the Ohio and Scioto rivers were near or above flood stages but only lowlands were inundated.

World Mark Set By Texas Quartet

Austin, Texas, April 5 (AP)—The University of Texas 880-yard relay team smashed the world record tonight with a 1:22.7 performance in the Texas Relays.

The old 880 mark of 1:24.0 was set by Southern California in 1949 and tied last year by Abilene Christian College.

Making up the Texas team were Wally Wilson, Hollis Gainey, Eddie Southern and Bobby Whilden.

In Second Gear

Despite a long-awaited upturn in new car sales in the last 10 days of March, auto production was still in second gear. Indications were it would stay that way until dealers made further progress cutting inventories (estimated at 735,000 cars) down to size.

Best news was the end-of-the-month pickup; Ward's automotive reports said new car sales for the final 10 days were up 13½ per cent from the March 11-20 period. "This," the weekly said, "indicates that the expected spring sales upturn is beginning to blossom."

Textile Plant to Go

There were reports of labor trouble among oil, rubber, textile and construction workers. Scattered layoffs (none involving more than a few hundred people) were announced by companies making autos, atomic materials, appliances, meat products and TV sets. The death knell sounded for another New England textile plant, the big Bates Manufacturing Co. mill at Saco, Me., which currently employs 1,200.

Despite cutbacks, shutdowns and layoffs, more Americans were working last month than in any other March on record.

According to the Commerce Department, employment in the nation in mid-March totaled 63,865,000. That's a gain of 675,000 over the 63,190,000 jobs reported for the previous month. It's 971,000 higher than the March employment total last year.

Unemployment in March totaled 2,882,000 against 3,121,000 in February.

Builders Complain

Wanted—another and bigger blood transfusion for the housing industry. That's the complaint among builders this week after the administration lowered down payment requirements for people using FHA mortgages to buy new homes.

Builder William J. Levitt called the government's action "futile, faltering . . . a timid gesture . . . a dismal joke." In Congress the House Banking Committee approved an omnibus housing bill designed to spur construction of mass-produced, low-priced houses. If it could survive a Presidential veto, the bill would provide many of the powerful stimulants some builders want.

Most controversial of these: a provision to channel life insurance funds into a federal mortgage purchase kitty.

What's the outlook for a cut in your income tax? Opinion in Washington this week was divided. President Eisenhower held out hope of tax cuts before 1961 but declined to forecast any reduction next year. Under Secretary of the Treasury W. Randolph Burgess disagreed. Taxes can be cut, he said, if the government's 72-billion-dollar budget is cut. "My personal opinion," Burgess said, "is that it could be cut from 2 billion to 3 billion dollars, and this would be a sound thing to do."

Peek At Business

Briefly over the business scene:

The government is aiming at a showdown this month in its efforts to block the merger of Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

The Agriculture Department is investigating trade practices of 12 meat packers. . . . The Federal Trade Commission may crack down soon on companies selling trading stamps. . . . John J. Newberry Jr., son of the company's founder, was elected vice president of the J. J. Newberry Co. department store chain.

General Electric Co. will "fast-track" its photo flashbulbs starting April 20. . . . President Gwilym A. Price said Westinghouse Electric Corp. looks for a solid rise in profits and "it is difficult to see any signs of a recession" this year. . . . Burroughs Corp. introduced an accounting machine that can double as an electric typewriter.

World News in Brief

Won't Halt Tests

London, April 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan's government, rejecting demands from home and abroad to halt its scheduled H-bomb tests, is defending strongly its decision to base Britain's defense on nuclear power. Macmillan and four of his ministers supported their stand in speeches last night. The prime minister said streamlining Britain's forces for the nuclear age will mean greater mobility, better training, and better equipment.

Fear Indicated by GOP

Washington, April 6 (AP)—A suggestion that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) resign before his term ends indicated some Republican uneasiness today over the possibility of losing a California Senate seat in next year's election.

Knowland was silent about a statement yesterday by California's GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight that it would be helpful if Knowland would step aside so another Republican could be appointed and enter the 1958 campaign as a Senate member.

Observers, here interpreted Knight's remarks as indicating a feeling that the GOP candidate next year may need an advantage that might stem from being an incumbent.

Debate on Procedure

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Labor leaders embroiled in a fracas over alleged corruption in the Bakery Workers Union debated today whether it is good or bad unionism to bring such charges to public attention.

Herman Winter, president emeritus of the union and an AFL-CIO vice president, said the way to handle such charges is "the democratic trade union way of settling internal disputes—not in the press or before outside committees."

But the author of the charges, secretary-treasurer Curtis R. Sims, asked "is public knowledge of the truth a greater union crime than the scandalous misuse of a union's money by its highest official?"

Ike Takes It Easy

Gettysburg, Pa., April 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower took it easy at his farm today after the slowest paced trip he ever made by automobile from Washington.

man today the company had "no comment."

It was reported Feb. 14 that efforts were being made to organize employees of the firm, and an official of the company said at the time "the company is paying the highest wages in its industry, well above the average for its area." He cited benefits from the profit sharing retirement plan.

It was reported in February that Local 810 had set up an office at 100 Center street to handle unemployed and laid-off employees of Channel Master. Mr. Yerry said today the office still is maintained there.

Didn't Ask Superiors

Washington, April 6 (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) says a Senate subcommittee report describing Canadian diplomat Herbert Norman as a onetime Communist was published with the approval of a State Department security officer.

But State Department officials said yesterday the workers who gave a go-ahead acted without consulting his policy-making superiors. The charges against Norman,

Trend to Brick Effects Indoors

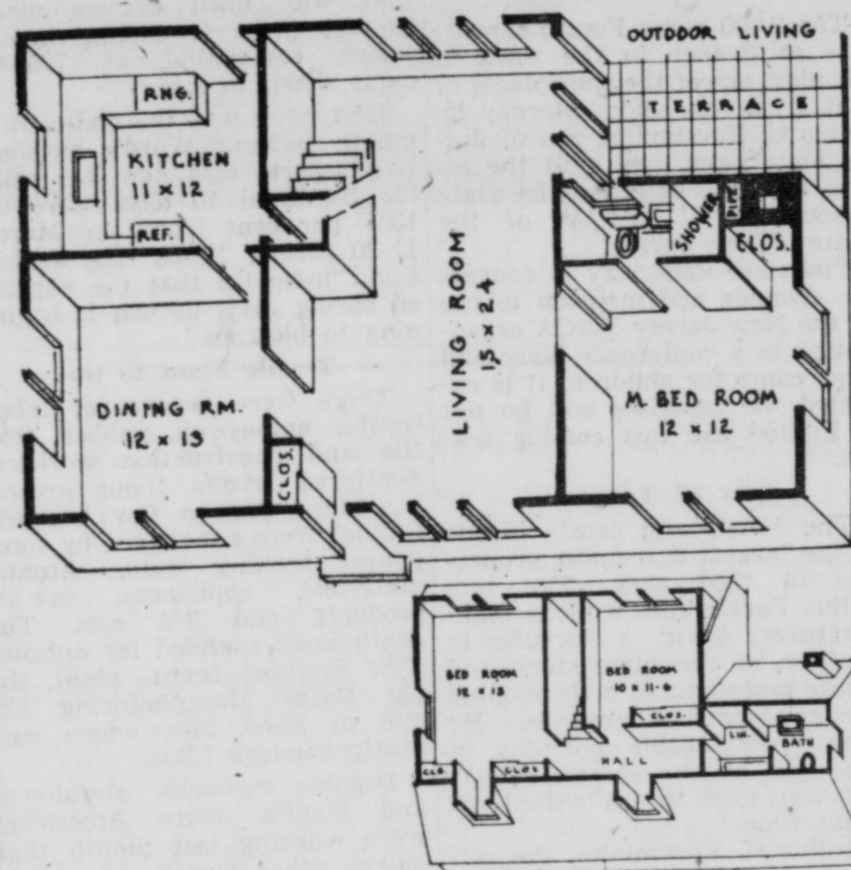

Decorating that's up against a brick wall can be attractive and it's certainly fashionable because a brick effect for walls is a favorite indeed. Most wall paper sample books show a variety of designs, the usual white with ruled black lines or gray lines, flocked lines dividing the brick rectangles, occasional flowers or fruit printed against brick wall backgrounds and now a newer type of brick effect—the shaded and roughed look of unpainted, natural brick in typical brick red shades.

While wallpapers are smooth-surfaced or nearly so, other brick effect wall coverings are three dimensional, just as the wall is that's made with real bricks and mortar. Outstanding among these is stout paneling molded of vinyl plastic composition, which provides an extra sturdy wall surfacing and can be painted as readily as actual bricks. Another interesting new idea is a featherweight wall covering that both looks and feels like brick but is made of cork.

Cork Flooring Gives Quietness, Comfort

Cork flooring is a comparatively new type that provides a resilient surface of exceptional quietness, comfort and beauty. Newer types are impregnated with vinyl resins and usually pre-sealed and waxed at the factory, giving them much greater durability than earlier types.

Without sealing, cork is, however, quite porous and is easily torn by sharp objects. Either type of wax, polishing or self-polishing, may be used with good results.

The 'Fredy'... A Charming Cape Cod With Authentic Lines

Rooms... Six Bedrooms... Four Closets... 24,960 ft. Cubage... Dimensions... 25' 4" x 40' 8"

The Home of the Week Plan Service today features the "Fredy," a charming Cape Cod home whose design captures the authentically traditional lines of Old New England.

This certainly could be a "first beginning" home for the newlywed couple for it would be practical to leave the upper floor unfinished in order to conserve money in a period when such resources are not always at their most bountiful.

Later, as the family grows in numbers, it would be possible to finish off at least one room on the second floor, but if desired the upper floor could be finished off complete to two rooms and bath at the time of construction.

Spacious Living Room
The living room is located in the center of the house and is unusual in that it extends the full depth of the house with no large breaks or jogs.

Measuring 15 feet wide by 24 feet long, the largest dimension extending from front to back, the triple window units in both the front and rear wall will provide an abundance of light in this room during the daytime hours.

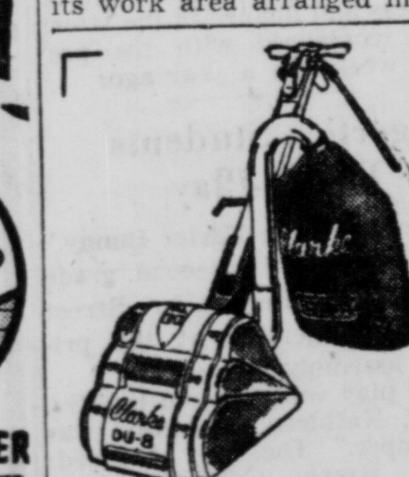

The living room is entered directly from the front entrance, to the left of which is the coat closet for visitors. The design of the "Fredy" calls for a terrace at the rear of the house directly behind the front master bedroom. There is an entrance to the terrace at the rear and to the side of the living room.

Dining or Bed Room
On the side of the house is the dining room, and immediately behind it, the kitchen. These two rooms combined equal the 24-foot dimension of the living room. The dining room of the "Fredy" is 13 feet long by 12 feet wide.

At the other extremity of the "Fredy" is the master bedroom which extends but half the 24-foot depth of the house. It is this design that allows for a terrace at the rear of the house which would thus be closed on two sides by the exterior walls of the structure. The master bedroom is 12 feet square.

Although the plan calls for a dining room on the first floor, if desired, this particular area could be easily utilized as a bedroom.

Kitchen Layout
The 11 by 12-foot kitchen has its work area arranged in a U-

Small House Needs Ample Closet Space

Smaller and more compact homes are causing most house-hunters to examine closet space more carefully than ever before.

Good design dictates that basic closet space be an integral part of a home's layout, not squeezed into footage that happened to be left over after other rooms are drawn into a blueprint.

A general practice is to provide each home with a guest or coat closet, one closet in each bedroom and one linen closet in each bathroom or powder room.

Many people, however, find that this "rule of thumb" is not adequate to meet today's needs.

Number Needed
In bedrooms occupied by two people and especially in master bedrooms, there is need for a double quota of personal clothing storage.

And this is also a good room for storing out-of-season clothing and extra bedding.

Thus the equivalent of three closets is necessary, not just one.

For this reason some builders devote one entire bedroom wall to closet space.

A typical arrangement is to have the general storage closet located between two closets for daily personal use. Cabinets may be built over the closets to provide additional storage space.

Important
Other important questions to consider when examining closet space include:

Are closets located at points of use?

Are closets wide enough and yet shallow enough to be easily accessible?

And, finally, do the closets have easy-to-reach shelves and special accessories?

All of these things add up to more efficient closets.

Second Floor Facilities
The second floor, reached from the living room, will accommodate two large bedrooms and an unusually large bathroom. The largest second-floor bedroom of the "Fredy" is 15 feet by 12 feet while the second bedroom on this floor measures 10 feet by 11½ feet.

These two bedrooms and the bathroom are served by a short hall across the front of the upper floor.

The largest of the two bedrooms on this floor contains two closets and the other bedroom contains one double-size closet.

In the second floor bathroom there is a large closet.

School Consolidation Explained

More State Aid Vital Factor In Reorganization Movement

(Note—This is the 14th in a series of articles on the proposed Greater Kingston Area Consolidation written by Norman Hammond of Lake Katrine and edited by four others on a committee interested in presenting an explanation about linking rural districts to the city school system.)

Few subjects regarding our schools arouse as much spirited argument as state aid, and yet few subjects are as little understood by most of us. The actual computation of the amount of state aid to be paid to a district is not complicated but is fairly lengthy as a number of factors must be considered.

Rural Districts Suffer

The controversy regarding state aid is, however, based primarily on the recent changes in law which reapportioned state aid among the many districts of the state. Although the total amount of state-aid money distributed this year was very much greater than last year, some districts got a smaller portion and some got none at all. The basis of the apportionment is such that those districts which are organized in accordance with the "Master Plan" get more money per student than before those districts which are not "satisfactorily organized" get less. Most of our rural districts fall into the latter category and have suffered accordingly.

Since only a few of the rural districts are receiving their full share of the available state aid, it can be seen that we are being financially penalized for not having reorganized in accordance with the "Master Plan." When we do reorganize we should regain this state-aid and thus it is evident that delay is actually costing us money.

More Aid Available

Under the "Enlarged City School District" Law, additional state-aid is available for those rural districts which consolidate with a small city such as Kingston. This money is provided as an additional incentive to consolidation and would amount, in our case, to upwards of $430,000 per year every year. The exact amount will depend on the number of rural children attending public school and the evaluation of the property outside the city as of the date of consolidation.

This additional state-aid, over and above the normal state-aid mentioned first above, is a large enough sum to pay all of the estimated transportation costs for the new district and to pay the yearly cost of the necessary extensive building program too.

Strong Incentive

This additional state-aid and the normal state-aid, which would again be paid after consolidation, together provide a very strong incentive for reorganization. This money, which could be claimed by our area, is now being distributed to other parts of the state.

The next article will discuss the estimated tax rates under consolidation and will give a method for estimating your own school tax.

Cancer Workers For Port Ewen Sector Are Named

The Ulster County Division of the American Cancer Society has announced that Louis A. Goldberg, and Mrs. Jessie Atkins are the Cancer Crusade's co-chairmen for the Port Ewen area.

The annual fund-raising drive is being held throughout April, which has been proclaimed as "Cancer Control Month."

The Port Ewen co-chairmen have designated a slate of 19 volunteer workers to canvass the area. They are the Mmes. Audrey Potter, Catherine Mickel, Esther Goldberg, Florence Ferguson, Kay Lisman, and Louella Cooper.

Other volunteers are Arlington Finch, Edward Saqui and Arthur Suling. These workers are already "on the job." Donations can have been distributed in the area, and the house-to-house campaign is in full swing.

Cancer is a disease which shows no mercy. Early detection is the only way, at the moment, to protect lives. With the aid of individual contributions, it is hoped that a positive cure for cancer can be found within the very near future.

April 20 Date Set for Strike Against Pennys

Philadelphia, April 6 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way employees has set April 20 for a strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Negotiations reached a stalemate yesterday, and the strike deadline was set last night by T. C. Carroll, president of the union, in Detroit.

Carroll said he hoped some agreement can be reached before the deadline. The strike would affect 10,000 PRR employees.

A PRR spokesman also expressed hope an agreement would be reached. There are no present plans to resume negotiations, however, he added.

The union said the strike action resulted from what it called arbitrary action on the part of the railroad in reorganizing the method of performing track maintenance and other work.

The union said the reorganization would cost the jobs of 50 per cent of its members employed by the PRR.

No-Trump Bid in Wrong Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

South was one of those point count fanatics who knew that the two no-trump response showed 13 to 15 points and a balanced hand. The fact that it also showed preparations for any lead meant nothing to South or maybe he was just one of those players who wanted to play all no-trump contracts.

Whatever the reason South responded two no-trump to his partner's opening heart bid. North went on to three no-trump and sat back to watch his partner play a piano.

The hand turned out to be a piano all right but the tune was played on North and South and not by them.

West opened the six of spades. Dummy's queen fell to East's king and the ace was promptly knocked out.

South saw that a heart play was hopeless since there would be enough spades around to set the contract so he tried desperately to make enough tricks in the minor suits. The club finesse worked all right and he made four club tricks. However the diamonds did not come in and he had to go down one trick.

Now, to drive the object lesson home let us see how beautifully the hand would have gone if South had bid like a bridge player.

He would have responded two clubs, North would have bid two no-trump and South would have raised to three. East would probably have opened the ten of diamonds. North would have won the trick and knocked out the ace of hearts.

At that point East could have led an old shoe. Declarer would have time to take the club finesse safely and would have wound up making six no-trump.

THE LITTLE WOMAN MADE ROQUEFORT FEEL GUILTY WHEN SHE SEEMED SO BEAT AFTER DOING THE DISHES LAST NIGHT...

Hercules Chemist Develops Shampoo And Wash for Car

Development of household specialties as a hobby has produced two new inventions—one is now on the market—by an industrial chemist employed by the Port Ewen plant of Hercules Powder Co.

He is David T. Zebree, of 274 West Chestnut street, who joined the Port Ewen plant in 1941.

One of the inventions includes a liquid foaming car wash compound that washes and polishes in one single operation; the other invention covers an aerosol shampoo which, Mr. Zebree says, does not burn the eyes. A patent is being filed by Mr. Zebree on these two compositions.

Used in Stations

The new car wash is presently being used by leading service stations in the area, and is being offered for sale to the public by a number of service stations under the trade name of "Foam Wax".

This success story of inventiveness began in 1950 when he undertook the hobby of developing household specialties in the basement of his home. After preparing a variety of products, Mr. Zebree became deeply interested in shampoos and car wash compounds.

He is married to the former Beatrice Sweeney of this city. They reside at 247 West Chestnut street with their two daughters, Beatrice Marie and Joyce Ann, and Mrs. Zebree's mother, Mrs. Matilda Sweeney.

Cites Feature

Foam Wax has gained popularity, Mr. Zebree said, because it is "unique" in that it can be used safely on any metal-finished surface, waxed or not. Besides a detergent and wax, the new compound also contains a rust inhibitor, Mr. Zebree explained.

He noted the new car wash formula is offering "a new concept in polishing cars," i.e., chemical polishing, thereby eliminating the necessity of rubbing. Mr. Zebree explained that Foam Wax contains two basic phases—a detergent phase which does the washing and a wax phase which does the polishing. The two phases are dissolved in one another, permitting the wax to spread over a wider area without rubbing. Since the detergent phase is more soluble than the wax phase, rinsing with water quickly removes the detergent from the surface being washed, he said.

Encouraging Reports

Mr. Zebree said reports from users of Foam Wax are "extremely encouraging," and there is evidence which indicates the new invention presents a major advancement in car washing and polishing.

The other invention, he explained, is an aerosol shampoo, i.e., a push button shampoo which functions by merely pressing a button to release the product in a readily usable form. The new specialty, unlike conventional shampoos, will not sting or burn the eyes, he said, a feature made possible by combining propellants. While thousands of combinations are possible, only a very few work, Mr. Zebree noted.

Awaiting Patent

The new aerosol shampoo will be available to the public pending outcome of a patent situation, he said.

Mr. Zebree explained that a patent already has been issued to Spitzer, which covers an aerosol foaming composition. He said, "This patent has had the entire field of aerosol foaming compositions under its control. Several of the leading cosmetics manufacturers in this country have been called to court because of patent infringement. The courts have upheld the original patent and as a result have ruled infringement against these companies."

"Because of the novelty of the Zebree aerosol composition, there is a very good chance that this product is patentable. The Spitzer patent does not cover compositions which have a no-eye-burn feature. Herein lies the difference and probable basis for a patent on the new composition."

Mr. Zebree graduated from Waynesburg College, Waynesburg, Pa., in 1940 with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. He joined Hercules Powder Company at its Kenilworth, N. J. plant that same year, and was transferred to Port Ewen in 1941.

How It Came About

His interest in shampoo, he explained, stemmed from problems encountered "in washing the children's heads." He said the usual result was because the suds burned their eyes—so was born the idea for a no-eye-burn shampoo.

The idea for a car wash was nurtured by the tiresome, time-consuming job of washing the car and then waxing it, primarily a man's job because of its drudgery. He reasoned that these operations could be accomplished in a one-step operation.

During more than five years of development, Mr. Zebree, like most inventors, experienced disappointments and in the interim developed several conventional shampoo formulations. One of these is currently being sold to the beauty trade under the name "Swiv" shampoo, he said.

Adversity also beset Mr. Zebree before he perfected the car wash and polish compound bearing the trade name of Foam Wax.

Persistence is allied with inventiveness.

Given 20-Year Term

Magnolia, Miss., April 6 (AP)—Ernest Dillon, 30-year-old McComb, Miss., white man, drew a 20-year prison term and a denunciation from a judge for the assault with intent to rape on a 16-year-old Negro girl. Circuit Judge Tom Brady told Dillon yesterday he not only brought disrespect to his family "but also bitter condemnation on the state of Mississippi and the people of this area." Brady, a member of the state executive committee of the Pro-Segregation Citizens Councils, told Dillon the attack on the girl had served to emphasize tension between the races.

Wage Agreement Made Covering 120,000 Trainmen

Chicago, April 6 (AP)—A lengthy wage dispute between the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the nation's railroads has ended — reportedly along lines recommended by a presidential fact-finding board.

The agreement was announced last night by Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board.

It covers about 120,000 road and yard service workers on 140 railroads and provides for a 26½ cent an hour wage boost over a three-year period.

Edwards said the pact conforms generally to recommendations made March 15 by an emergency fact-finding board to President Eisenhower. Features of the agreement ending the six-month-old dispute, he said, include:

A first-year wage increase of 12½ cents an hour, retroactive to Nov. 1, 1956. Second- and third-year increases of seven cents an hour to become effective Nov. 1, 1957 and Nov. 1, 1958.

He Simply Murders Them

If Aaron Has Weakness, Dodgers Can't Find It

Brave Is Slugging
.461 Against Brooks

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Ask Milwaukee manager Fred Haney if he expects Hank Aaron to repeat as National League batting champ and he answers "why not?" Aaron, himself, shrugs and says "maybe." But ask the Brooklyn Dodgers and they snap back "who else?"

The Brooks aren't kidding. The 23-year-old kid from Mobile kills 'em with his bat. They can't get him out. They don't know how to pitch to him. Low, high, inside, outside. Good pitches and bad. He hits 'em all. And he's one of those guys who tags a curve like a fast ball.

Aaron, who took the bat crown with .328 last season, was at it again against the Dodgers yesterday, swatting a two-run homer — his 10th in 17 exhibition games — this spring and fourth off Brooklyn pitching — that backed up an earlier three-run shot by pitcher Lew Burdette for a 5-1 victory.

Batting .417
Aaron also singled, raising his batting average for the spring to .417. And that's exactly what he's hitting against the Dodgers, too.

In six games against the Brooks — of which the Braves have won three, lost two and tied one — Aaron has 10 hits in 24 at bats. In addition to the four homers he's also driven in 11 runs against the defending NL champs.

Both of yesterday's Milwaukee home runs were off young southpaw Sandy Koufax, who has looked pretty good this spring. He gave six hits in four innings yesterday, but struck out five. Don Bessent followed with a two-hit job over four frames and Fred Kipp, a knuckleballing lefty, allowed

Sicklers-Pine Plains Finals Tonight

The Kingston Basketball Tournament's "dream finals" takes place tonight at 8:30 at the municipal auditorium, when the defending champion Sickler's Delivery squad takes on Pine Plains with Ted Dwyer and company.

The Hank Krum Memorial award and team trophies will be presented after the game.

The consolation prelim pairs Kingston Stars against Staatsburg American Legion at 7:15 p. m.

Reds Nip Washington
In other games, Cincinnati nipped Washington 1-0 on Don Hoak's sixth inning home run. Right-hander Bob Rush went all the way for the first time this spring as his Chicago Cubs beat Baltimore 6-4, the Philadelphia Phillies scored all their runs on an unearned basis to beat the New York Yankees 6-4. Kansas City rallied to beat Boston's Red Sox 4-1, and the Cleveland Indians breezed past the New York Giants 12-9.

Johnny Klippstein, Russ Meyer and Art Fowler combined for an eight-hitter to beat Washington and give the Redlegs their first spring shutout. Fowler had to get out of a two-on-two-out jam in the ninth.

Rush set down the Orioles on eight hits, but gave up three home runs — to rookie Carl Povich, Dick Williams and Tito Francona, who belted his third in three days. The Cubs scored off Lefty Bill Wright.

Four hits, one a double by Bob Bowman who earlier had tripled, and two Yankee errors brought the Phillies their six runs in the seventh inning after being held to three hits over the first six frames by Bob Turley, who struck out seven, Curt Simmons won it.

Indians Beat Giants
Two-run eighth inning singles by pinch-hitter Charley Thompson and Johnny Groth, following an error and two walks, brought the A's their victory against George Susce. Maury McDermott was the winner, allowing Boston one hit in three innings as the Red Sox dropped their fifth in a row.

The Indians went to work quickly, chasing southpaw Dick Littlefield in the first inning. The Giants, who had four home runs including solo pokes by rookies Andre Rodgers and Val Thomas, scored six in the ninth of rookie southpaw Stan Pitala to make it look better.

In other action, the Phillies finally got themselves a shortstop. They picked up Chico Fernandez from the Dodgers for Elmer Valo, Ron Negray and three minor leaguers plus $75,000. . . . Pittsburgh gave Paul Minner, trying a comeback after a neck injury suffered in a bathtub accident as a Cub last year, his release. Baltimore offered Ery Palica to anyone who would take him for $1.

Sam's the Man to Beat

Snead's 36-Hole 140 Leads Masters Play

Hogan, Middlecoff Are Eliminated

Augusta, Ga., April 6 (AP)—Sam Snead is front-running again. He has a new putting stroke and he's completely relaxed. That makes him the "man to beat" today as the 21st Masters golf tournament swings into the third round.

Another point in Sam's favor: He won't have to worry about two long-time nemeses, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Ben Hogan, surprisingly eliminated yesterday in the "top forty" cutoff.

"If I play super and nobody else goes crazy I figure I got a good chance," Snead said after shooting a four-under-par 68 which at 140 gave him a two-stroke halfway lead toward his fourth Masters crown.

Demaret at 142
Two strokes back at 142 came another three-time winner, Jimmy Demaret, followed by defending champion Jack Burke Jr., still a threat to repeat at 143; Ed Furgol and National Amateur champion Harvie Ward Jr., tied at 144; Australia's Peter Thomson and Doug Ford, sharing 145, and a cluster of five pros, including semi-retired oldtimers Byron Nelson and England's Henry Cotton, at 146. The others at 146 are Canada's Al Balding and two young pros, Arnold Palmer and Jay Hebert.

Most experts figure the champion will come from these ranks but those around the picturesque Augusta National golf course are girding for a two-man battle between Snead and Demaret.

"I feel great," said Demaret, a grandfather at 47. "I am more eager than I've ever been. I have never played in a tournament I didn't think I could win and this is no exception."

Demaret shot a sub-par 70 yesterday with a fantastic putting exhibition ironically punctuated when he three-putted the 18th green from 18 feet.

Sam Gets Eagle
Snead played spottily yesterday—and spectacularly, in the accepted Snead tradition. He took a double-bogey five on the short third hole and got the strokes back with an eagle three on the par five 15th where he sank a 15-foot putt.

Relatively inactive since the St. Paul open last summer when he hurt his right wrist, Snead said he didn't feel idleness had hurt him.

Hogan and Middlecoff ran into putting miseries which caused them to be eliminated from the "40 and ties" list qualifying for the last two rounds under a new rule. Hogan shot a 75 for 151. Middlecoff scrambled to a 73 for 152. The cutoff point was 150.

Bruins Have No Fear of Canucks
Montreal, April 6 (AP)—The Boston Bruins, a "Cinderella" team that was relegated to the National Hockey League basement in preseason forecasts, meets the proud Montreal Canadiens tonight in the first of the final best-of-seven series for the coveted Stanley Cup.

The Bruins roared into Montreal early today and to a man, they said they thought they'd lick the Canadiens, a team that has become a fixture in the Cup finals.

"My team won't quit at this stage of the game," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt defiantly. "It's a championship team. It has come back all year, but we all along we could do it. I'd say we fooled everyone but ourselves."

While the Canadiens will enter the series favored by as much as 2 to 1, Coach Toe Blake was not quite so optimistic.

"We've got to play more inspired hockey against the Bruins than we did against the New York Rangers (in the semifinal) if we hope to win. But we're ready and I think we can win. If we lose, I'll have no alibi."

If you're a boxing fan you won't want to miss the brilliant series authored by Nat Fleischer, the Ring Magazine editor who is regarded as "Mr. Boxing" on the sports beat.

The first article in the nine-part series appears on today's sport page. It leads off with the Jack Dempsey-Jess Willard bout and features Dempsey three times—against Willard, Louis Angel Firpo and Gene Tunney. That should remove any doubt that Mr. Fleischer considers Dempsey the greatest, most exciting heavyweight of all the ages.

Besides the three Dempsey bouts, Fleischer brings dramatic, on-the-spot reminiscences of such ring classics as Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott, which is the greatest heavyweight fight we ever saw; Philadelphia Jack O'Brien-Stanley Ketchell, Freddie Welsh-Benny Leonard, Harry Greb-Mickey Walker, Ad Wolgast-One Round Hogan and Joe Louis-Billy Conn.

The series is a tap room and neighborhood tavern natural. It will settle many age old arguments and produce some jolting surprises. For instance, many fans are under the impression Willard was counted out against Dempsey. He wasn't. He surrendered the title sitting in his corner after the most savage battering ever absorbed by a heavyweight.

Jess Willard became embittered at Dempsey and never spoke to him again. When Dempsey was featured on "This Is Your Life" a few months ago, Willard refused to make an appearance.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Newburgh Dodge Jewels have signed Ettore (Yogi) Giammarco for the second straight year. The former New York Yankee-Phillies farmhand, is the first since 1950 to handle the Jewels two years in a row. . . . The 1957 New York-New Jersey season marks the 15th for Louis Shapiro, the Newburgh jeweler, who broke into baseball as sponsor of the Stewart Field Panthers in 1943. . . . Pancho Gonzales, the pro tennis champion, blasted Tony Trabert, 74-27, in the 1956 tour but still has a long way to go to equal the tour record of his boss, Jack Kramer, who won four tours in a row—against Bobby Riggs, Gonzales, Pancho Segura and Frank Sedgman. That beating by Kramer on the 1950 tour virtually put Gonzales on the shelf as a drawing card for five years. He had to prove himself over and over by winning one pro tournament after another during those lean years until finally no one could deny he was tops and was given the No. 1 spot on the tour.

Umpire Shortage Nationwide:

There's a shortage of competent baseball umpires throughout the nation to officiate in sandlot leagues and tournaments. That's why the National Baseball Congress has set up machinery to enlist and train upwards to 5,000 umpires in its 1957 National Association of Umpires within the next 30 days.

The shortage strikes at home, too. There is no more discouraging sight in sports than watching some 10-year-old impressed into service as an umpire for a junior baseball game. We've seen it happen many times . . . too often. Small fry league officials will take a solemn oath at the start of a new season that it won't happen this time . . . but it does.

Much of the blame has to be shared by the adults. In a Little League there are normally 60 kids. That means 60 fathers. Many of them have had enough baseball experience to qualify as a LL umpire. But few come forward to volunteer their services.

Eventually the league is faced with two courses, either of which is reprehensible: 1. take a green kid who doesn't begin to know the rules, or pay some adult. It should never happen, but it will.

A tip of the hat to Andrew Murphy III, Lou Schafer, Jack Gilligan and all the other persons connected with the highly successful Kingston Basketball Tournament that winds up tonight at the municipal auditorium. It was a high grade tournament, brilliantly contested and with uniformly good officiating. It has become the No. 1 post-season classic in the area.

National LL Sets Meeting

National Little League has scheduled a meeting Monday, April 8, at 7:30 p. m. for all managers, coaches and officials. A special invitation is extended to all parents whose boys are going to play in the league this year.

Kerslake, Evans Keep Mat Titles

Waynesburg, Pa., April 5 (AP)—Bill Kerslake, a hulking 285-pounder from Cleveland, and Tommy Evans, a 147-pound star from Tulsa, tonight successfully defended their national titles in the finals of the AAU free-style wrestling tournament.

Kerslake gained his sixth straight heavyweight title with a 3-45 fall over Clayton Cravath, representing the United States Third Army.

Evans retained his 147-pound title on a split decision over Larry Fornicola of the United States Second Army, a former National Collegiate champion.

Tropical Park Appeals Ruling

Miami, Fla., April 5 (AP)—Attorneys for Tropical Park, Inc., said today the Florida Supreme Court should decide "in a couple of months" whether owner Saul Silberstein can operate the race track.

Former State Senator R. B. Gautier said he would ask the court to review a decision of the State Racing Commission handed down yesterday, revoking the track's license.

Gonzales Beats Rosewall Again

Clinton, April 6 (AP)—Pancho Gonzales continued his mastery over Ken Rosewall last night, winning his 30th match in their pro tennis marathon 6-3, 6-4.

Gonzales, who has lost to Rosewall only 11 times this season, plans to leave the tour before June 1. He has complained that a hand injury has affected his game.

Gonzales teamed with Pancho Segura to take a doubles match from Dinny Pails and Rosewall 6-2, 6-2.

Pails, down five games in the opening singles set, rallied to defeat Segura 9-7.

Furniture was given six families and coal was supplied to seven. One family received rent money and 17 men and 2 women were given transient care by the Army. Twenty meals were given and eight were supplied with lodging and 19 were supplied with clothing.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Lt. Howard Howell who is in charge of the Mid-Hudson Social Department at Poughkeepsie. His topic was "Are You Familiar With the Salvation Army Social Service Center?" The programs of the Center are well organized enabling the operation to function on a constructive, progressive level. This starts when the material is picked at your home, brought into the Center and processed by beneficiaries, under competent supervision. From here it finds its way into the family service stores and other channels which produce the necessary financial ways to support the program.

The speaker said the object of this Men's Service Center is to help men help themselves by developing them mentally, morally, physically, socially and spiritually. The program is geared to the development of strength of character until the man is strong enough to assume the responsibilities of life, the speaker said. The Men's Social Service Center is available to any man who wishes to better his condition and is willing to cooperate in the plan for his rehabilitation.
